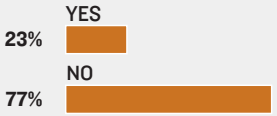
Most don't see improvement now...or later

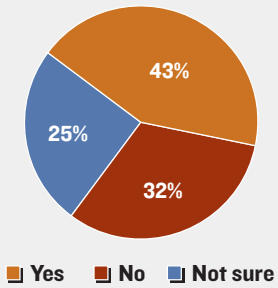
If your PC has been cut over to NMCI, do you find that the new system is an improvement?

If no, do you expect eventually to see improvement?

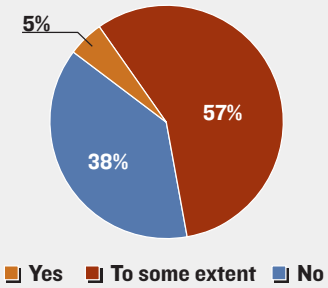


Legacy apps are out the door, but what's coming in?

Do you think progress is being made on sorting out and reducing the number of legacy applications?

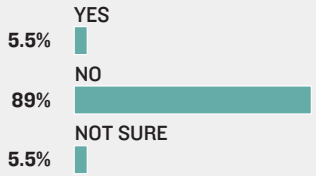


Are you getting the apps from NMCI that you need to do your job?



Not enough user say

Do you think there has been enough end-user and low-level management input into planning and deployment?

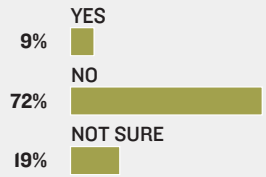


Culture clash

Do you think that cultural resistance is still a problem for NMCI?

Still not on track

In your opinion, is the NMCI project on track and headed in the right direction?



Not too optimistic

Are you optimistic that the Navy ultimately will see the projected benefits?
